The Buddha As Depicted In The Tipitaka

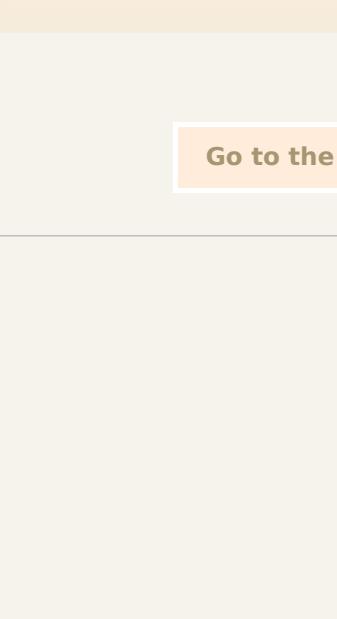

Our late Vipassana Teacher S.N. Goenka faced some initial hesitation before joining his first Vipassana course as he'd experienced indoctrination against the Buddha's teachings during his childhood. After his first course in 1955, the misconceptions that he had about the Buddha's teaching were dispelled and he was inspired to study the words of the Buddha in the Pāli language. Goenkaji subsequently wrote a comprehensive introduction to the Tipitaka incorporating quotes, inspiring passages from the Tipitaka, and interesting incidents from the Buddha's life.

In his words: "The Tipitaka is like a vast, captivating garden containing beautiful flowers of different hues and fragrances. I have plucked a few flowers from that garden and have woven them into a garland. This jeweled ornament has been fashioned by culling a few priceless gems from the vast ocean of the Dhamma."

The Buddha as Depicted in the Tipitaka, the two-volume English translation of the original in Hindi (Tipitaka Men Samyaka Sambuddha, Vol. 1) is now back in stock at our Hillsboro warehouse.
